THE INTERNATIONAL INITIATIVE
'OPEN GOVERNMENT PARTNERSHIP'

On 23 January 2019, the Government of the Republic of Lithuania approved the fourth Action Plan for Lithuania's participation in the international initiative 'Open Government Partnership' for the next two years' period (hereinafter 'the Action Plan'). The Action Plan provides for the main initiatives of the Open Government, the guidelines for their implementation, actions, implementing bodies and the deliverables.

The Action Plan provides for six commitments:

- I. Develop an Open Data Portal and integrate it into the European digital single market;
- II. Strengthen civil society through the non-governmental organisations' database and NGO fund;
- III. Publicise information on revenue and expenditure of state and municipal institutions in the electronic environment;
- IV. Develop a model for transferring public services to non-governmental organisations (hereinafter 'NGOs') and communities, and encourage its implementation;
- V. Carry out consistent monitoring and evaluation of public participation in governance;
- VI. Introduce ex-post evaluation in a legislative process cycle.

These commitments are in line with the values of transparency, public involvement and accountability, and they cover the following guidelines for development:

1. Openness to the public of the activities of governance institutions.
2. Improving NGO environment.
3. Public services.
4. Citizens' involvement in decision-making.
5. Accountability.

The Action Plan has been worked out by the Working Group that was set up under Order No V-34 of the Chancellor of the Government of 7 March 2016.

The Action Plan builds on the following strategic documents: Lithuania's Progress Strategy 'Lithuania 2030', 2014-2020 National Progress Programme, Public Governance Improvement Programme for 2012-2020, the Information Society Development Programme for 2014-2020 'Digital Agenda for the Republic of Lithuania', and it is in line with the requirements of the Open Government Partnership initiative, i.e. it has been drawn up together with the citizens by way of public consultations and discussions regarding the ideas for the Plan and ways to put them to practice.

The progress of the Action Plan is currently under assessment. Interim results of the Action Plan will be presented to the public and discussed at the meeting of the Working Group on 5 December 2019. The results of the public consultation and the decisions taken by the Working Group will be available at: <http://epilietis.lrv.lt/lt/dalyvauk-priimant-ir-keiciant-sprendimus/isitrauk-i-atviros-vyriausybes-veiklas/ketvirtasis-veiksmu-planas>).

1 September 2018 – 31 December 2020
Lead implementing agency	Information Society Development Committee (hereinafter 'the ISDC')
Description of the commitment
Key problem addressed	Public sector institutions have accumulated a wealth of valuable information that is not readily and freely available to be re-used for business development, promotion of economic growth, greater public sector transparency, addressing social issues, and for greater social and civic engagement.
Commitment	The problem will be addressed through newly-developed methodological tools and technological capabilities for opening up of public sector-owned data: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Development of a methodological legal framework aimed to provide for preconditions for the Lithuanian public authorities to form open data sets and their metadata and to publish them on the Lithuanian Open Data Portal. ▪ Development of information technology infrastructure, integrated into the European Open Data Infrastructure, aimed at publication of public sector data and metadata and provision of information to domestic users (businesses, public organisations and citizens). ▪ Implementation of organisational structure for the planning, financing and implementation of open data operations.
How will the commitment contribute to address the public problem?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ The creation of the Lithuanian Open Data Portal will provide business representatives, NGOs and active citizens with access to information resources accumulated and opened up by institutions, while public sector institutions will have a greater possibility of making information more accessible and transparent. ▪ The opening of public sector data will enable active members of the public to make reasoned proposals and have an impact on decision making, while at the same time developing citizens' confidence in government and their civic engagement. ▪ The adoption and implementation of the decisions on the organisational structure of open data will create prerequisites for smooth opening of public sector data and will enable citizens to evaluate the effectiveness of public sector decisions and the accountability thereof.

How does the commitment relate to OGP values?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ The commitment serves directly to the opening of the data, it improves the quality of the open data or of information, increases public access to information or grants the public with real possibility of implementing its right to access information, which is a guarantor of the value of transparency. ▪ The commitment creates a basis and prerequisites for people not only to participate in decision-making but also to make an impact and put forward their own proposals. It is a direct catalyst that serves in building self-confident, soundly critical and proactive society. ▪ The commitment helps create an information basis to objectively judge the work of public servants and public institutions and their results and also to demand accountability in the case of decisions that are inappropriate, unreasonable or not useful for the society.
Additional information	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ The measure is financed from the funds administered by the European Social Fund Agency and the Central Project Management Agency. ▪ The projects are part of the Digital Agenda programme. They also contribute to the sustainable development goals. ▪ Both projects are in progress.

II. Improving NGO environment
2. Strengthen civil society through the NGO database and NGO fund
1 December 2018 – 31 December 2019
Lead implementing agency	Ministry of Social Security and Labour
Description of the commitment

Key problem addressed	Part of the financial resources allocated by the state to strengthen civil society have failed to reach the intended recipient. As legal entities are not clearly classified (it not clear which of them are to be regarded as NGOs), part of the resources intended for strengthening of civil society eventually end up in the hands of public authorities, associations of business entities, etc. This poses challenges for the sustainable development of the civil society sector.
Commitment	The problem will be addressed by legally requiring that not only public bodies but also legal entities, whose legal form is charity, support fund and association, should send information about their shareholders (members) to the system of the legal entities participants. Once these data have been properly processed, it will be possible to create a tool that will facilitate easier recognition of NGOs. The problem will be addressed through financial means, i.e. by setting up an NGO fund, which will operate as a programme administered by the Ministry of Social Security and Labour, intended to strengthen NGO capacities to participate in public policy and decision-making processes.
How will the commitment contribute to address the public problem?	With the NGO database in place, public authorities and the public will be able to easily and clearly see whether a legal entity is classifiable as an NGO and to take this into account in deciding about the funding of the activities, projects, etc. of such a legal entity. Currently, there are no sustainable mechanisms to help strengthen NGO capacities to participate in decision-making processes. The creation of an NGO fund will provide a mechanism that will enable strengthening of such capacities; the NGO fund, as a sustainable entity, will carry out regular monitoring (on changes in citizens participation in public policy and decision-making processes) and use the results to improve the fund's strategy and activities.
How does the commitment relate to OGP values?	The commitment will open up data about NGOs operating in Lithuania, improve the quality of the open data and information, and increase the accessibility of information about NGOs to the public and authorities. The commitment will increase civil society's access to public funding. The commitment will strengthen the capacity of NGOs to participate in decision-making processes (linked to the value of civic engagement).
Additional information	The provisions related to the prerequisites for the establishment of the NGO database are included in the draft law amending the Law on Development of NGOs and its accompanying instruments). A concept of the NGO database has been worked out too. There is an ongoing discussion with the state enterprise ('SE') Centre of Registers and the Ministry of Justice. The budget estimate for the part of the commitment related to the establishment of the NGO database is EUR 3 million. As regards the part of the commitment related to the establishment of the NGO fund, there is an ongoing negotiation with the Ministry of Finance about the funding. The provisions consolidating the NGO fund are included in the draft law amending the Law on Development of NGOs. The commitment is part of the Plan for the implementation of the Programme of the 17th Government.

III. Openness to the public of the activities of public governance institutions and their public accountability (fiscal openness)
3. Publicise information on revenue and expenditure of state and municipal institutions in the electronic environment designed for that purpose
30 June 2018 – 15 June 2020
Lead implementing agency	Ministry of Finance
Commitment description
Key problem addressed	For the moment, there is no single methodological, legal and ICT tool model that would ensure access to information about the revenues and expenditure and other financial data of state and municipal institutions in the electronic environment, and the public is prevented from getting information about the financial activities of public authorities and public financial resources in a manner acceptable to it. Access is limited to relevant information on public revenues, expenditure, beneficiaries and/or other financial information when using electronic search and analytical tools.
Commitment	Creation of the IS 'Open Finance'.
How will the commitment contribute to address the public problem?	Following the creation and introduction of the IS 'Open Finance', information on revenue and expenditure of state and municipal institutions will be placed in a single IS, providing for a possibility of cross-cutting analysis, summary tables, graphic images at customer's request, data search by using electronic search and analytical tools.
How does the commitment relate to OGP values?	The commitment is relevant to the value of transparency, as the information system created will allow data on public sector revenue and expenditure to be accessed from one place and in a single format. This will increase the accessibility of information about NGOs to the public, as well as its quality and the clarity. The tools created will provide the public with a possibility of cross-cutting analysis of this information, and thus make an impact on decision-making.

Additional information	The commitment as a separate measure is provided in the Inter-institutional Action Plan for 2015-2019 of the National Anti-Corruption Programme for 2015-2025, approved by Resolution No 648 of the Government of 17 June 2015 regarding the approval of the inter-institutional action plan for the implementation in 2015-2019 of the national anti-corruption programme of the Republic of Lithuania for 2015-2025 (Measure No 1.1.1 'Publicising information on revenue and expenditure of state and municipal institutions and bodies in the electronic environment via the created information system'). Commitment budget – EUR 580 million. Implementation of the commitment is financed from the EU Structural Funds.

IV. Quality of public services
4. Develop a model for transferring public services to NGOs and communities and encouraging its implementation
1 December 2018 – 31 December 2019
Lead implementing agency	Ministry of Social Security and Labour
Commitment description
Key problem addressed	According to the current public service delivery model, all public services are practically provided by state or municipal institutions or bodies. This is often not what the users want as they are often inefficient and uneconomical, and the users are often devoid of the possibility to affect the quality of services provided. Such a public service model fails to contribute to the promotion of civic awareness and the strengthening of communities, i.e. citizens are not involved in decision-making as regards services and their better quality, despite the fact that these decisions have a significant impact on the quality of their own life and the environment. Currently, only a small number of municipalities have transferred to NGOs and communities a small proportion of public services, although the National

	Progress Programme provides for 15 per cent share of services to be transferred by municipalities to NGOs and communities by 2020.
Commitment	Develop a model for transferring public services to NGOs and communities and encourage its implementation.
How will the commitment contribute to address the public problem?	The model for transferring public services will ensure greater public engagement in decision-making processes, encourage NGOs and communities to play a more active role in addressing problems relevant to their immediate environment, and help public authorities to properly prepare and ensure a smooth transfer of public services and increase the efficiency of public service delivery.
How does the commitment relate to OGP values?	The commitment is relevant to the value of public participation, as the mechanism developed will encourage people to get closer involved in decision making regarding problems faced in their environment.
Additional information	The commitment is part of the Plan for the implementation of the Programme of the 17th Government.

V. Civic participation in decision making processes
5. Carry out consistent monitoring and evaluation of public participation in governance
1 September 2018 – 1 September 2019
Lead implementing agency	Office of the Government
Commitment description
Key problem addressed	Lithuanian and international surveys show that the Lithuanian society is civically disengaged and it practically makes little use of its rights and opportunities to participate in addressing public matters of the country or to engage in civic activities of public importance. National institutions have implemented a number of initiatives to promote public participation and involvement in public decision-making processes, but public involvement is low, so is the participation culture, there is no methodological approach-based public participation monitoring strategy allowing to assess the current state of co-operation between the public sector and society, to see the development trends and the factors influencing the quality of this process - the engagement of participants, achievement of results, etc.
Commitment	Developing methodology for monitoring civic participation in public governance processes, which would serve as a basis for the evaluation of the actual situation as regards civic participation in public governance processes, and provide for facilitated civic engagement in decision-making.
How will the commitment contribute to address the public problem?	With the methodological basis at hand, it will be possible to gather information and evaluate the public involvement through specific tools for participation in decision-making, to follow the changes in participation and to seek solutions and tools to encourage greater public participation.

How does the commitment relate to OGP values?	The commitment is relevant to the value of accountability, as it creates a mechanism aimed at: the evaluation of the effectiveness of public participation measures developed by institutions; it also meets the value of public involvement in decision making (participation), as the methodology will serve the basis for the implementation of the measures encouraging public participation.
Additional information	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ The implementation of the commitment is financed from the project 'Open Government initiatives' run by the Office of the Government. ▪ The commitment is part of the Plan for the implementation of the Programme of the 17th Government.

VI. Openness to the public of the activities of public governance institutions and their public accountability
6. Introduction of ex post evaluation in a legislative process cycle
1 July 2018 – 31 December 2019
Lead implementing agency	Ministry of Justice
Commitment description
Key problem addressed	Recently there have been many inconsistencies in the legislative process, often with the same legislation being repeatedly amended failing to take on board the consequences caused by previous amendments. Furthermore, the national audit report by the National Audit Office of 16 March 2018 has found that the existing instrument - the monitoring of the legal regulation - is applied in a fragmented manner, the monitoring is low quality, and it is therefore necessary to move to a systematic approach as to the impact assessment of the legislation Such a need was identified in OECD report of 29 July 2015.
Commitment	Incorporating ex post evaluation in legislative process. The aim is to create an ex post evaluation model, which will serve as the basis for the evaluation of specific legislative proposals.
How will the commitment contribute to address the public problem?	The implementation of the provisions proposed in the draft law amending Articles 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10 and Section 4 of the Law on Legislative Framework No XI-2220 should result in a positive impact on the transparency of the legislative process and the quality of the decisions taken - the evidence gathered during the impact assessment of the final legal regulation would be used to decide on the need to change the existing legal regulation. Besides, a closer public participation in the evaluation process is expected to improve the quality of legislation and better reflect the interests of the population concerned.
How does the commitment relate to OGP values?	The commitment is relevant to the improvement of the existing legislative process, as it provides for the shift from fragmented evaluation of legal regulation to systemic evaluation of its problematic areas. There are also wide opportunities to engage the public in this process. The commitment is related to OGP values of transparency, accountability and civic participation.

Additional information	The commitment is part of the Plan for the implementation of the Programme of the 17th Government.
